

Disclaimer

The intent of the creator of these resources is to share general information to support emotional wellbeing and personal development.

The information given, including self-help and downloads, should not be treated as a substitute for professional therapeutic or professional medical advice.

If you have any concerns about your physical health or emotional or mental well-being, you are advised to make contact for formal sessions or to consult another qualified therapist, counsellor, a doctor, health practitioner, EFT practitioner or other health or psychological practitioner.

Any use of the information in these resources, including self-help and downloads, is at the user's discretion and risk. While every attempt has been made to provide information that is both accurate and effective, the creator of these resources cannot be held responsible for any loss, claim or damage arising out of the use, or misuse, of the suggestions made, the failure to take medical or psychological advice or for any material on third party courses or websites.

In the event that you use any of the information as a constitutional right, the creator of these resources assumes no responsibility for your actions.

The moral right of the creator of these resources has been asserted. All rights reserved. No part of these resources, design or content may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying, photographic or recording.

No part of these resources, design or content may be stored in a retrieval system, transmitted or otherwise copied for public or private use. Written permission from the owner of these resources is required for brief quotations embodied in articles and reviews.

Risk Assessment Note

The tools, tips and techniques in this book and its resources are effective ways to be more assertive within the context of a non-abusive relationship. If you think you may be in an abusive relationship, possibly even in physical danger, these resources are not for you. It is recommended that you seek support. Seek out a professional who is trained to help, and speak to your family and friends.