

Risk Assessment

The tools, tips and techniques mentioned by Marlène Rose Shaw in this podcast, or any linked downloads from this podcast are suggestions applicable only within the context of a non-abusive relationship.

Applying these tools, tips and techniques within an abusive relationship could potentially be detrimental.

If you think you may be in an abusive relationship, possibly even in physical danger, it's recommended that you seek support. Seek out a professional who is trained to help, and speak to your family and friends.

Please remember that it is not your responsibility to try to change others; rather it is your responsibility to take care of yourself.
